NATO ACT Quality Assurance

ISO 9001 Certification

United Nations Certificate of Training Recognition

NDU Assurance of Training Quality

Welcome to FINCENT

The Finnish Defence Forces International Centre, FINCENT, starts its fourth year as part of the Finnish National Defence University (FNDU). Almost 50 years of experience in peacekeeping and pre-deployment training have now been integrated into an academic environment with a high level research status. FINCENT has been qualified by the UN (UN Certificate of Training Recognition), NATO (NATO ACT Quality Assurance) and FNDU (NDU Assurance of Training Quality). We have attained the ISO9001 certificate, which is the backbone of our education and training.

FINCENT concentrates on military crisis management training and education for commanding and expert personnel. We conduct three types of courses. Firstly, training is provided for traditional stronghold courses such as the UN Military Experts on Mission Courses (UNMEM) that produce military observers, liaison officers and military advisers for any type of UN mission. Secondly, we arrange courses in cooperation with other national and international training centres. The third category of courses consists of courses proposed by outside parties and implemented or facilitated by us. FINCENT also provides instructor support by sending individual instructors, subject-matter experts and Mobile Education and Training Teams (national and Nordic) to national/international training centres.

FINCENT wants to combine research and training to achieve a better understanding of training and education requirements. Now we have the opportunity to try to fulfil those demands, as FINCENT's new task is to act as the Head of Comprehensive Crisis Management Research of the Finnish National Defence University. The first joint research projects have already kicked off. This task also supports FINCENT's task as the Department Head of NATO Military Contribution of Peace Support (MC2PS).

FINCENT's goal is to be able to achieve better learning outcomes. Therefore, we are also looking forward to developing the training and education of instructors. We are looking for solutions to how we can train and educate instructors to use more effective methods, for example, by using a wider spectrum of embedded training solutions. It is also very important that our instructors understand and accept FINCENT's new pedagogical ideas on how to support students in achieving their learning objectives more effectively.

It is obvious that FINCENT cannot execute any activities without the support of national and international actors. We aim to be a living example of how the comprehensive approach can be used daily. Together, FINCENT and Crisis Management Centre (CMC) Finland, as Finnish Centre of Expertise in Comprehensive Crisis Management, have been successful in cooperating and coordinating training and education for ten years now. We also have closer cooperation with the Police University College nowadays. Together with national and international actors, we have achieved very good results and we are confident that our cooperation will continue to be as effective as it is today.

The staff of FINCENT is dedicated to offering high-quality courses that meet the needs of both national and international students and participants. We consider learning to be a life-long process. We also take pride in our facilities and the comfort of our students is a high priority. Student feedback is always highly valued. Our courses also offer an excellent chance to experience Finnish culture and way of life.

In this catalogue, I hope you will find useful courses both for yourself and your organisation. I wish you a warm welcome to Finland, the island of Santahamina and FINCENT.

"With valid attitudes, education and training there are always solutions – Every Action Matters"

Courses by the Finnish Centre of Expertise in Comprehensive Crisis Management

The Finnish Centre of Expertise in Comprehensive Crisis Management was established in June 2008 by the Finnish Defence Forces International Centre (FINCENT) and Crisis Management Centre Finland (CMC Finland). Its core tasks are the development of civil-military relations and coordination in crisis management both for national crisis management capacity building and international crisis management missions. The Finnish Centre of Expertise is based on a shared campus principle, where responsibility is shared between FINCENT and CMC Finland, both of which continue to function in their capacity of independent governmental institutions. The goal is to create a clear framework for the cooperation that already exists between these two institutions.

The Finnish Centre of Expertise in Comprehensive Crisis Management endeavours to develop common and shared training in crisis management as well as to promote an overall understanding of comprehensive crisis management. Its tasks also include research, publishing and seminar activities.

The aim is to produce new education and training solutions and refine existing ones for the benefit of all NATO MC2PS education and training providers. The Community of Interest Working Groups are open to all key stakeholders and education and training providers. The work plan is presented in the newest DAP.

The second ADC was conducted in November 2017 in Geneva, Switzerland.

MC2PS Annual Discipline Conferences (ADC) will be held each year in November. The venue for the ADC varies every year.

More information about the exact times of the Work Group meetings and the ADC as well as participation in them can be found from FINCENT homepage at www.fincen.fi or by contacting the Department Head at MC2PSDH@fincen.fi.

Quality Management System METT for NATO PTECs

The quality of education and training is a common interest for all military organizations. The demands of economy, efficiency and transparency are emphasized. The constant changes of training environment, objectives, organization and personnel cause discontinuity and extra work. One of the preferred tools for minimizing these effects is to create a tailored Quality Management System (QMS) for the Training Provider.

FINCENT has a QMS mobile education and training team (METT) which can support any NATO PTEC (Partnership Training and Education Centre) needing more hands-on support in creating their own QMS.

This 9–12 month long process covers the following: technical agreements, on-site visits, an in-house course and a rehearsal audition.

FINCENT will support the network assisted process via PVMOODLE in designing your own QMS. This can include: quality manuals, standards (NATO QA, ISO 9001 etc.), the necessary standardized procedures and your national guidelines.

The first in-house course of QMS will be conducted 19–23 November 2018 at FINCENT.
